

Labor Party May Ask Bevin To Resign Post

Middle East Policy Reason For Debate

London, Jan. 17.—(AP)—A growing movement within the labor party to force Ernest Bevin's resignation as foreign secretary was reported today as the British cabinet debated his controversial Palestine policy.

There were conflicting accounts as to the amount of cabinet backing Bevin had. It seems certain, however, that Prime Minister Attlee personally will back him to the hilt.

Sources with the party said at least three cabinet ministers—chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps, air minister Arthur Henderson and health minister Aneurin Bevan—have expressed opposition to various aspects of the foreign secretary's views on the Middle East.

Hold Private Meeting

A group of labor party "rebels" met privately today to coordinate the strategy they intend to use both in the House of Commons and at their party meeting Wednesday.

Most prominent among them was 41-year-old Richard S. Crossman. He is assistant editor of the new statesman and nation, a magazine which usually represents views to the left of the main body of the party.

Labrite informants said at least 50 to 100 labor members of parliament will call for Bevin's resignation because of the way he has handled the Palestine question. Bevin also has been sharply criticized by conservative and liberal leaders, and by a large number of British newspapers.

Dissatisfaction with his policy came to a head 10 days ago when the Israelis shot down five British planes near the Palestine-Egyptian border.

Will Ask Inquiry

Ore laborite has said he will ask for a public inquiry into the circumstances behind the death of one of the pilots. A Tel Aviv dispatch said two other pilots, captured by the Israelis following the clash, will be freed within a few days.

Both Attlee and Bevin have promised to attend the meeting Wednesday of the parliamentary labor party, consisting of laborite members of the House of Commons.

Both are expected to speak strongly in defense of Britain's role in the Middle East.

Parliament meets tomorrow. The government almost certainly will face a hostile all-party alliance on the Palestine question during the first few days of the session.

Bevin is expected to make a statement tomorrow on the loss of the five British planes. If he does not volunteer one, the conservative party probably will ask for one.

Bevin Will Avoid Debate

The general expectation is that Bevin will seek to avoid a full-scale debate on the grounds that it might upset the Israeli-Egyptian armistice talks now being conducted on the island of Rhodes.

Labor Party sources gave this account of the opposition they said Bevin has bumped into within the cabinet.

Cripps has been worried lest strained British-American relations resulting from differences over Palestine might lead to a pruning of United States aid to this country.

He also has been concerned by so-called "excessive" Egyptian demands for dollar and gold supplies from Britain. Those demands were made during current British-Egyptian financial talks in Cairo.

Air Minister Protested

Air Minister Henderson protested that he was not consulted before the RAF reconnaissance operations were undertaken. Bevin is said to have gone over Henderson's head to defense minister A. V. Alexander who personally ordered air patrols near the Palestine-Egyptian border.

Health Minister Bevan is said to be concerned about the conflicting accounts given by the United States and Britain as to who thought of the RAF reconnaissance.

The foreign office assumed responsibility for the operation last week but said it had "become clear" to both the United States and Britain that it was necessary to determine how far into Egypt Israeli forces had stabbed. Some British officials said privately that the United States actually had suggested the mission. This was denied in Washington by the State department.

150,000 Nationalists Take Stand At Yangtze

Nanking, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Chinese Nationalists fled by sea from the northern port of Tangku today amid indications that Peiping was destined quickly to surrender or fall to the encircling Communists.

In central China, the government deployed troops estimated at 150,000 along a 300-mile Yangtze river front for the defense of Nanking and Shanghai.

Foreign military observers said the effort looked hopeless and that 60,000 of the troops were in what looked like suicidal positions some 30 miles north of Nanking.

It was learned authoritatively that Tangku, port for Communist-controlled Tientsin 27 miles to the west, was abandoned during the night.

The Chinese navy used small craft of all sorts to move the 35,000-man garrison across Taku Bar and out to sea where they awaited arrival of larger transports for the flight south.

(The Communists shortly after broadcast that they had taken Tangku after the Nationalists fled.

The broadcast concluded: "The liberation of Peiping and all north China is at hand."

Spencer Moosa, AP correspondent in Peiping, reported that a committee of prominent citizens was going out Monday to meet the Communists and seek peace. He said an escort and transportation across the narrow no-mans-land outside the walls were provided by the government's commander, Gen. Fu Tso-Yi.

The peace delegation's leader, former Mayor Ho Sze-Yuan, was unable to go, however, because he was injured slightly when a Communist shell struck his home. His daughter was killed and two other members of his family were wounded.

The shell was one of those the Communists have been firing intermittently at the two emergency airstrips inside Peiping's walls.

Writing through censorship, Moosa reported that the situation at Peiping was "approaching a climax" and that within the next few days a decision must be made either to surrender or meet a certain-victorious Communist assault. The city has been surrounded for 35 days.

(The Communists broadcast that they had restored the Peiping power plant in the western suburbs and were supplying electricity to the government-held city. Moosa, however, mentioned use of kerosene lanterns, so it was uncertain whether the Reds actually were furnishing light to their enemy.)

On the central China front before Nanking, small Communist forces were reported moving southward from the Hwai river, 100 miles north of Nanking, towards the new government defense line only 30 miles north of the capital.

Best available reports, however, said the main bodies of possibly 300,000 Reds were grouping near Mengcheng and Hungtze Lake, 50 and 60 miles northwest and northwest of the Hwai river.

Believe 20 U. S. Fliers Killed In B-29 Crash

Lochgolhead, Scotland, Jan. 17.—(AP)—An American B-29 superfortress crashed in this desolate section of Argyllshire today and police said all 20 air force men aboard were killed.

Eleven bodies had been removed from the wreckage in isolated Sutherland Glen by nightfall when search crews stopped work until morning. They said they found no survivors.

In London, a spokesman for the U. S. Airforce headquarters said "until all bodies have been recovered we continue to hold a faint hope that there may be survivors who parachuted and became lost in the difficult countryside."

The bomber, which had been attached to the 501st bomb group stationed at Scampton Field, Lincolnshire, was enroute home to the states via Iceland. The group's home base is Smoky Hill Field, Salina, Kansas.

The superfort was carrying 11 crewmen and nine ground force men and their baggage. Two ships took off together for Iceland, on the first leg of the journey home, but one turned back because of bad weather.

Hugh Campbell, who accompanied a rescue party, said "mutilated bodies were strewn among the wreckage on the hillside, and we searched about to see if there were any survivors, but found none."

The crash was near Strachur in wild hunting country northwest of Greenock.

Rain and low hanging mists blanketed the whole area.

U. S. third air division headquarters in London, which controls the 90 superfortresses based in England, has not made public the names of those killed.

Israel Will Free 3000 Egyptians Trapped At Faluja

Rhodes, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Israel and Egypt agreed today on a formula for the release of 3,000 Egyptian troops trapped at Faluja. It was believed the Egyptians would be allowed to march out of the pocket immediately.

The Faluja pocket consisted one of the thorniest problems involved in the talks on a southern Palestine armistice. Settlement of the point raised hopes that a full Israeli-Egyptian armistice agreement could be reached soon.

An informed source said the Israeli delegation had made a major concession. The formula was submitted to the Israeli government for approval. That approval came during the afternoon, it was said.

The Egyptian brigade was hemmed in at Faluja when the Jews launched their Negev offensive last October. The town is 28 miles southeast of Tel Aviv in the portion of Palestine assigned the Arabs under the United Nations partition plan.

Pilot Says He Has Flown Faster Than Sound Many Times

Los Angeles, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Capt. Charles E. Yeager, 25-year-old experimental pilot, disclosed today he has flown "25 or 30 times at speeds faster than sound."

Yeager, snowed out of Muroc airbase since the army announced a week ago he had piloted the rocket-powered Bell X-1 to 25,000 feet in one minute, 40 seconds, flew in today for a press conference.

He declined to say how fast the X-1 has gone, saying the speed is still classified. To a specific question, he replied:

"If the plane can go 1700 to 1800 miles per hour, that fact remains to be released."

The speed of sound varies from 650 to 760 miles an hour, depending on altitude and temperature.

In all those flights combined, he spent 15 or 20 faster-than-sound minutes in the sky.

Russia Turns Down Plea To Mediate China's Civil War

London, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Tass said tonight Russia had turned down a request of the Chinese government to mediate the civil war because of a policy of "non-interference in the internal affairs of other countries."

Tass, the official Soviet News Agency, in a broadcast Moscow dispatch, said deputy foreign minister Andrei Vishinsky gave that reply yesterday to the Chinese ambassador in Moscow.

Tass said the Chinese foreign ministry, in making the request Jan. 8, told the Soviet ambassador in Nanking the same proposal had been put to the United States, Great Britain and France.

Baltimore, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Mae West was on the mend today.

Dr. W. H. Townsend, Jr., said after an examination that her temperature was down to 98.2 and added:

"If she continues to improve I don't think she will have to be hospitalized. The pain which she had in her side last week has abated considerably and she hardly feels it any more."

The 55-year-old actress became ill Saturday and was taken to a hospital from which she was discharged a few hours later at her own insistence. She had a relapse yesterday and was too ill to permit her removal to a hotel suite back to the hospital.

Open Trial Of 12 Top Communists Of U.S.

Truman Would Revamp Executive Agencies

Washington, Jan. 17.—(AP)—President Truman asked today for the right to shake up the executive branch of government. Quickly a bipartisan move started to let him have it, but Senator Taft (R-Ohio) urged caution.

Mr. Truman asked the lawmakers: 1. To restore the power to overhaul the government that was held by the President temporarily under 1939 and 1945 laws. He wants it made permanent.

2. To make no exceptions. The previous laws barred the President from touching a number of agencies.

3. To keep the veto power in Congress. This means that Mr. Truman would lay any reorganization plan before the lawmakers. If they didn't approve they would have 60 days to kill it.

Mr. Truman's proposal followed similar recommendations by Chairman Herbert Hoover of the commission on government reorganization.

Finds $6000 When She Unpacks Her Grocery Order

Salem, Mass., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Most of it was green and crisp, but it wasn't the sort of lettuce Mrs. Esther Loran ordered.

It was, in fact, some $6,000 which Mrs. Loran found among the groceries she purchased Saturday night, which she didn't unpack until today.

So she called the police and the police called Harry Elias of Lawrence, assistant manager of a Salem market, and Elias' pulse, temperature and blood pressure gradually subsided to normal.

He had explained, put the week-end receipts in a paper bag, intending to take them to a night vault of a Salem bank, but inadvertently placed the bag with Mrs. Loran's large Saturday night purchases.

The market is sending Mrs. Loran a crisp, green $100 sheaf of lettuce.

Defense Hits At Methods Used In Trial

New York, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The nation's 12 top Communists went on trial today and spent all of the first day charging they were being subjected to a "police trial" in an atmosphere of martial law.

They are accused of working for the forcible overthrow of the government.

For six hours from the time the case was called in Federal Court at 9:43 a.m. (CST) until adjournment, defense counsel hurled accusation after accusation at the way the case was being handled.

Called 'Hitler Trial'

Their characterizations included "a Hitler Trial" and "another Scottsboro case."

The communists' heaviest guns were leveled at the police detail of 400 men assigned to the courthouse at Foley Square and the surrounding neighborhood. It was the largest such detail ever called to a court case here.

Presence of the police, the defense charged, constituted an "armed mob in uniform," and turned the neighborhood into an "armed camp."

They said the purpose was to "poison the minds of the prospective jurors and intimidate them and their clients."

To the latter charge, Judge Harold R. Medina declared:

"That's the most absurd thing I've ever heard of. You gentlemen don't act as though you're intimidated."

Motions Denied

Defense counsel entered motion after motion to have the detail dismissed. Medina denied each one.

They vainly sought to have the court postpone the proceedings for 90 days, grant a bill of particulars and that Medina disqualify himself on the grounds of prejudice.

While the legal battle was being fought in the courtroom, many persons who had been loitering in park benches in the warm sunshine outside the building got up and began marching up and down.

Soon the line had about 500 persons, all parading silently. None carried placards or signs. They marched for about an hour and then broke up into little groups.

An assistant chief inspector, Frank Frustensky, Jr., said the reason for the large police detail was that the "daily worker" (communist paper) has been building this thing up for days.

"We are in charge of protecting life and property, keeping the streets clear for unobstructed use of pedestrians and to keep vehicular traffic moving," he said.

First In History

The trial, first such proceeding against communist party members in the history of the United States, got underway at 9:43 a.m. (CST).

The defense moved for a 90-day postponement of the oft-delayed case. Judge Medina denied the motion. Then the battle over the police started.

In all, defense counsel presented three motions to the court, the last that Medina disqualify himself on the grounds of prejudice.

This, too, Medina refused to grant. The defendants, who compose the National Guard of the American communist party, are specifically charged with conspiracy to organize a party advocating overthrow of the government by force and violence.

They were indicted by a federal grand jury last July 20 during a lengthy investigation of alleged subversive activities and communist espionage. The defendants, all free on $5,000 bail each, face a possible maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and $10,000 fine.

Springfield IHC Showroom, Garage Damaged By Fire

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—(AP)—A spark from a welder's torch started a fire which caused an estimated damage of $14,000 to the garage and showroom of the International Harvester company today.

Fire department officials said the blaze started when the spark from the torch ignited an accumulation of gas and oil near a truck which was being repaired. Five trucks were damaged by the heat, smoke and water.

Company officials estimated the loss at $8,000 to the building and $6,000 in equipment.

NEW RULES COMMITTEE METHOD
MAY PROVE MORE DEMOCRATIC

It has been argued that the House of Representatives' decision to limit the power of its Rules Committee simply transfers a potential dictatorial power from the committee to the Speaker. It has also been argued that this decision is a triumph for Mr. Truman and a first step toward putting through the legislative program that he promised the voters in his campaign.

Those arguments are debatable and incomplete. To take up the second point first, this reform, like many others, is not limited to the present. Unless repealed, the new procedure for bringing bills before the House will continue indefinitely. The question is not whether it helps Mr. Truman, but whether it helps to translate the people's wishes into law more effectively.

There are indications that the new procedure will make legislation a more truly democratic and representative process. They may be found no farther back in history than the record of the 80th Congress. Polls showed—and polls do show, in spite of their record in the presidential election—that the majority of Americans favored universal military training. The November vote, we believe, showed that a majority also favors a program of public housing and slum clearance.

Both these measures had strong bipartisan support. Mr. Taft, leader of the late Republican Senate, was co-author of the housing bill approved by the Senate and appropriate House committee. But the Rules Committee would not even permit the House to consider and debate these two highly important bills, much less vote on them. That is not democracy. Neither is it a proper function. The committee was conceived as a channel—a bottleneck, perhaps—through which a mass of legislation could pass from committees to the House in orderly fashion. It was not meant to be a bottle stopper. And that is what it had become. Under both parties, the Rules Committee has often exerted the power of censorship.

The first major decision of the new Congress curtailed this power. Formerly it took a petition with 218 signatures to bring a bottled-up bill before the House. Now the chairman of the committee which has approved a legislative bill can move to have it brought out after the Rules Committee has had it for 21 days. To do this he must first be recognized by the Speaker.

Opponents of the change say the Speaker can fail to recognize a chairman and thus censor bills as effectively as the committee. But there are important, if perhaps intangible, differences. The Speaker is a powerful officer of the government, and there have been men who abused that power. But it is highly debatable whether their abuses match those of past Rules Committees.

The very nature of the Speaker's office works against this. While the average citizen may know little and care less about the Rules Committee chairman, he is likely to know the Speaker. The Speaker is elected by the majority party of the House. His is a position of honor. And, unlike a committee chairman, he works in the open and in the full view of press and public.

For those reasons alone we believe that the average Speaker conducts himself with a consciousness of the dignity of his office and of his personal responsibility and vulnerability in fulfilling its duties. And for those reasons, we believe that the change in House procedure will produce its obvious benefits in spite of its possible dangers.

TEACHER SHORTAGE UNRELIEVED

The annual school survey of the New York Times, summarized by Benjamin Fine, shows that the teacher shortage is still acute. While the present 901,000 teachers represents an increase of 15,000 over a year ago, this increase is offset by the rise in population, and 105,000 teachers, or more than one of every nine, hold substandard or emergency certificates.

School construction has lagged because of soaring costs. Many communities face the necessity of building new schools soon whether they can afford them or not.

While average teacher pay is reported at an all-time high of $2,644, this is considered to be worth only $1,500 in terms of prewar values. Teacher salary increases have not kept pace with those of other professions.

It is estimated that 2,000,000 children will receive inadequate education this year because of deficiencies in schools or teachers. In every state there is a shortage of elementary teachers—the foremost school problem of the day.

Many states are increasing their appropriations for local schools. New York heads the list with $495,000,000. Despite these problems, the Times reports that teacher morale is higher than it was a year ago, thanks no doubt to the effort of many communities to do justice to the teachers.

Boyle's Column

Biggest Need Of Twentieth Century—A New Hero

By Hal Boyle

New York—(AP)—The biggest need of the twentieth century is a new hero.

And at the end of this article I will tell you who I think it has to be—for what that is worth.

Every man has to have a hero. Who's yours?

The hero is as old as history. He is as old as the childish game, "follow the leader."

Cows, buffaloes and men are alike in the herd instinct. They all have it. And they all want to have a leader. But there is a big difference in the herd instinct of cattle and men. In cattle the leader is picked solely by muscle—his prowess in personal battle.

The young brainless bull with the powerful shoulders and the sharp horns drives away the aging bull and becomes boss. And the rest of the herd docilely accept and follow the new leader. They immediately forget the old leader, who learned wisdom from a hundred storms and a hundred battles.

No Sense of Criticism
Then they patiently tag after the newest muscle—often to a death that the caution of the defeated bull could have forestalled.

Cattle don't have a sense of criticism. They don't check up on what's behind the new chief bull's bellowing victory cry. They just know he's the strongest among them—or the one who uses his strength most cruelly.

Men do have some sense of criticism. They question their leaders—and won't follow them blindly to death without at least the expectation of a medal.

And men have outgrown somewhat the cattle idea of trailing after the bull with the biggest muscle. Muscle is on sale every day in the public market. Men have reached the point where they follow the leader who has something else—the loudest mouth, the biggest promises.

Or, in more glorious moments of the human epoch, they follow the boss with the finest character or the widest heart.

Hope For Security
But in both cattle and men there is one basic reason for following the leader—the fading hope of security. They think he can lead them to it. They think the leader can take them to better fodder, guide them out of the wind's way, the world's weariness, or beyond the enemy's tearing clasp and tooth.

And so, while systems falter and fresh dreams arise, the human race rears up new kinds of heroes—the old heroes fail. And all heroes fail to the degree they don't fulfill the dream of security.

No leader ever fully satisfies the human herd. It has a series of fashions in heroes, and discards them just as women toss away yesterday's styles.

Parade of Many Types
In America's brief story there has been a parade of many types of heroes—the pioneer, the warrior, the businessman, the banker, the engineer.

The depression took the glamor off the businessman and the banker. The second world war gave a brief new luster to the soldier's fame. But doubt rules the herd today. They distrust the traditional types of heroes.

There is a tendency to put their faith in politicians, who promise pensions, or in scientists, who promise a longer life or more leisure.

But the human herd still stirs with an ancient unrest. There is a nameless desire for a new type hero who will steer them past old pitfalls to peace, plenty, and freedom.

He Is Every Man
And this new hero? Who is he? Why, he is the heart of the herd. He is every man. He is the individual man who through all time has yearned for security with dignity.

He is the common man who shunned responsibility and leaned on somebody else to make his dreams come true. He is the man who followed a leader because he wasn't brave enough to refuse to follow anything below the level of his own heart's high desire.

Who is the American hero today? You, the ordinary man. You are. You have to be. A Democracy has to create a herd of heroes—or die and make another banquet for the worms who have neither dreams nor heroes.

Weighty Volumes Being Sent To 25,000 Methodist Ministers

CHICAGO—As the first phase of Methodism's four-year Advance for Christ and His Church opened, Rev. Dr. E. Harold Mohn (left), executive director, handed to Jesse I. Gibson of the church's service department the first of 25,000 weighty volumes to be mailed free of charge to every Methodist minister. Dr. Mohn directed that the first book be sent to Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, New York City, vice-chairman in charge of the Advance's worldwide preaching and teaching mission. In a letter addressed to all Methodist clergy, Bishop Oxnam points out that diligent study of the 900-page volume, "Man's Disorder and God's Design," based on the Amsterdam Assembly of the World Council of Churches, will be rewarding and will furnish an intellectual and spiritual background for the preaching and teaching endeavor. The bishop admits the book is heavy reading even though it is accompanied by a helpful study guide. Dr. Mohn realizes it's a heavy book too for figures from the service department show that the 25,000 volumes when packed for shipment will weigh 34 tons and will require 1,100 mail bags and 15 trucks to carry them to the post office. Bishop William C. Martin of Dallas, Texas is general chairman of the four-year Advance.

Former Jacksonville Man Takes Bible To Truman Inauguration

A $5,000 Bible which President Truman will touch as he takes the oath of office at his inauguration Thursday is enroute to Washington in the custody of Frank W. Rucker of Independence, Mo., a former Jacksonville man.

Rucker, who is vice president and general manager of the Independence Examiner, in company with Homer W. Clements, county superintendent of schools, left Sunday for Washington, taking with them a close copy of the prized Gutenberg edition, for the President's oath of office.

Air Force Will Hold Eight Cadet Classes Per Year

The U. S. Air Force is increasing its Aviation Cadet Training program from three classes to eight classes a year T Sgt. John F. Messmore Air Force recruiter said here Monday.

T Sgt. Messmore explained that the effect of the change would be to shorten the waiting time between classes for young men who qualify, but who have not been accepted because a class was filled.

The annual enrollment will be larger than for any previous year, but the size of each class will be reduced.

The next class, beginning April 4, will initiate the expanded program. It will be limited to approximately 600 cadets. Classes of similar size will follow at approximately six-week intervals. There were 1300 students enrolled in the October class—the last under the March-July-October class system.

Men accepted for Air Force Aviation Cadet training must be between the ages of 20 and 26 1/2 years, with two years of college education or the ability to pass an equivalent examination, and must possess high moral, physical, and personal qualifications.

T Sgt. Messmore explained that the Aviation Cadet Program provides 12 months of flying, academic, and military training. Graduates receive pilot's wings, a commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve, and assignment to three years of active duty.

Routt Meets Decatur Five There Tonight; Crimson, Tigers Idle

Only one of the three local prep teams will swing into action tonight, as Paul Stroud's Rocket quins journey to Decatur for a hardword tussle with the St. Teresa five. The I.S.D. and Crimson quins lay idle for the forepart of this week and will not see action until Friday evening.

Stroud's pivot man, Paul Saner, is sidelined for this evening's fray. The Rocket center sprained his foot in the St. James game here last Friday night, and the Routt coach has decided to rest the big boy for the tougher Arenzville fracas which is on tap for next Friday night in the Our Saviour's gym.

Lonegan, a capable reserve on the Rocket varsity, who has been playing the majority of all other Routt games, will fill the spot on the starting five vacated by Saner. Lonegan, a shifty forward, is too small to operate in the pivot spot, and this will necessitate moving Paul Kennedy, regular forward to the center position. Vernon Tighe will remain at his forward slot, with Joe Murphy and A. J. Spreen at the guards.

The Rocket five pushed everything they met last week off the boards. After bumping Waverly 50 to 38 Tuesday night, they died out a 43 to 43 victory over Bob Kraushaar's Crimson quint in an intra-city fray Thursday night, and then finished the week's efforts with a resounding victory over St. James of Springfield on the local floor.

St. Teresa Record Is 6-7

The Decatur school is currently holding a record of 6 wins and 7 losses. The St. Teresa cagers won their last tilt against Effingham Catholic Friday evening, but previously lost tilts to Clinton twice. Decatur high by a 25 to 23 count and Bloomington Trinity 40 to 19. They whipped Notre Dame of Quincy, 34 to 32; the same quint that the local east siders dumped 34 to 22 earlier in the season.

With Saner out of the game, the St. Teresa mentor will floor a decidedly taller team than the Rockets can coast. Their center, John Sohm, measures 6 ft. 4 in., and on forward, Tom Smith, stretches 6 ft. 2 in. in the air.

Games Friday Night

Bob Kraushaar's Crimson aggregation will meet Havana on the DP boards in their next contest Friday night, and the Wilsonmen will play Tallula on the westend floor the same evening. Routt plays host to Arenzville Friday, to make three high school ball games in town.

Favorites Win Four Contests To Open 27th Winchester Tourney

Games Tonight (First Round)

Winchester vs. White Hall 4:30 p.m.

Hardin vs. Pleasant Hill 6:00 p.m.

Rushville vs. Notre Dame 7:45 p.m.

St. Sterling vs. Millon 9:15 p.m.

First round contests in the 27th annual Winchester tournament went according to Hoyle last night as the four favored quints took decisions from the underdogs.

The third tilt of the evening, which was between Griggsville and Nebo, saw the favored Pike County quint receive a near up-set from the sky-scraping Nebo five. The Griggsville lads just managed to eke out a 37 to 36 victory on a free-throw by Bartlett in the last 50 seconds of play. The tilt was a nip-and-tuck affair throughout with the underdog quint, Nebo, grabbing an early lead at the end of the first quarter, then giving way to Griggsville before the intermission, only to come back strong in the third period and go ahead 28 to 23 heading into the fourth frame.

The lead changed hands several times in the last canto, and was not decided until the Griggsville cagers' rift-loss racked up the 7th marker for the Pike county crew.

Other Favorites Win Easily

In the first contest Monday afternoon, the Roodhouse Railroaders won the right to go into the quarter-finals by thumping a small Barry quint 57 to 40. The Railroaders took the win with a minimum of effort, with their early lead never being threatened by the Barry aggregation.

Carrollton doubled the score in dumping Greenfield 44 to 22 in the 6:00 p.m. contest Monday. The two quints were evenly matched for the first eight minutes of play, but the favorites turned on the heat in the second quarter to take the lead, and continued to pile up their winning advantage until the horn sounded ending play.

Jerseyville Tromps Bluffs

After the thrilling Griggsville-Nebo battle Monday evening, Jerseyville took the floor against the Bluffs Bluejays in the finale. The Panthers easily overcame the Scott county quint in a listless 66 to 24 contest. The favored aggregation held a 31 to 10 halftime advantage, and used second string men to sweep on to a victory.

Patton, Olympic Star, Will Not Run Next Year

Los Angeles, Jan. 17.—(P)—Sprinter Mel Patton, Olympic champion and holder of the unofficial world 100-yard dash record, said today he will not run during his final year of eligibility at the University of Southern California.

The announcement was made by the university. Pell-Mel, in the middle of his final examination scheduled, could not be reached for comment.

Patton said he made the decision because he has to support his wife, and two-year-old daughter. He plans to continue his studies—he's due to graduate in June as a physical education major—but will take a part-time job afternoons instead of trotting cinder paths.

The "world's fastest human"—A 11th title he won after cracking the world 100-yard mark in 9.3 seconds at Fresno last year—is going to work for his father-in-law, Ed Roos, head of the Allied Matrix Co. here. He'll start in sales work with an eye to learning the business.

Red Williamson Sought For Coach Of Wisconsin

Madison, Wis., Jan. 17.—(P)—Ivan (Red) Williamson tonight became the center of the University of Wisconsin's search for a new head football coach.

Williamson, now head coach at Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., was cloistered with university athletic officials, who are seeking a new mentor to replace Harry Stuhldreher.

The officials gave out no details of the meeting, but scheduled a news conference for 10 p.m. (CST) at the home of Dr. E. E. Fred, university president.

Williamson was end and captain of the 1932 Michigan team and formerly was end coach at Yale. He has been at Lafayette the last two years.

Wisconsin's vacancy occurred when Stuhldreher resigned at the end of the 1948 football season to devote full time to his duties as athletic director.

Kentucky Defeats Georgia Tech Five

Atlanta, Jan. 17.—(P)—The Kentucky Wildcats—defending champions of the collegiate basketball world—won their eleventh game of the season tonight from Georgia Tech 56-45 without being extended.

Tech could give a close game only during the first ten minutes, and at one time shocked nearly everyone of the 1,800 fans in the small stuffy gym.

Kentucky's Ralph Beard, guard, and Alex Groza, center, got most of Kentucky's 10 points, while Tech could score but four. However, Melvin Dold and Colin Anderson began stealing the ball from the Wildcats and put Tech ahead 11-10 after eight minutes playing.

Three passes and one throw later Dale Barnstable sank a lay up to get Kentucky back in front. The Kentuckians never were headed again.

Indiana Whips Purdue 56-42

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 17.—(P)—Indiana ran up a 19-point lead in the first half and romped to a 56-42 victory over Purdue tonight before 10,000 Western Conference fans.

The result left the teams with identical Big Nine records of two victories and two defeats.

Bill Tosheff, Indiana's sophomore spot shooter, scored 15 points in a first period drive that gave the I.U. its 34-15 margin at the half. He finished with eight field goals and two free throws for 18 points.

The entire Purdue team made only two more fielders than Tosheff, but Andy Butchko of the losers put together three goals and eight free throws for 14 points.

The first of Tosheff's seven baskets in the first half put Indiana ahead, 4-2, and the Hoosiers quickly ran their margin to 11-4. Purdue went scoreless for five minutes late in the opening period while Indiana built up its big advantage.

FILL ERS HIGH ON CHANDNOIS

East Lansing, Mich., (P)—"The greatest all-around back in college football" is the claim made by Michigan State College grid coaches for their rangy right half-back, Lynn Chandnois. A crack ball carrier, Chandnois, who ranks high on The AP All-America honorable mention list, also is a fine blocker, passer, and defensive man, will be back next year.

Ohio State Comes From Behind, Nips Wisconsin 57-54

Madison, Wis., Jan. 17.—(P)—Ohio State's Buckeyes came from behind in the final minute of play tonight to defeat Wisconsin, 57-54, in a Big Nine basketball game.

It was the Buckeye's second victory and Wisconsin's third defeat, each in four league starts.

Jim Remington, Bob Raidiger and Ted Jacobs combined to whip in seven baskets in the last two minutes and raise the Buckeyes from a 50-43 deficit to their final victory.

Raidiger was the big gun of the evening, marking up 25 points on nine baskets and fire free throws to 17 points by the Buckeye's pressing defense which caused trouble for the Badgers all evening.

Wisconsin jumped off to an early 7-3 lead and then stretched the margin to 14-6, the widest gap of the evening. Raidiger's basket tied the score at 18-18. Wisconsin pushed ahead, 25-24, but Donham's final toss gave Ohio the lead, 26-25, at the intermission.

The second half was nip-and-tuck, with the score being tied twice before the Badgers took their 50-43 lead. The game was fast throughout, without a single jump ball being called by the officials.

Minnesota Takes Iowa, First Place In Big Nine Race

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 17.—(P)—Minnesota jumped into the Big Nine conference basketball lead tonight with a 61-45 victory over Iowa, as Whitey Skoog led the Gophers with 26 points. It was Minnesota's fourth straight conference win.

The victory pushed the Gophers above Illinois, which has won three and lost none in conference play.

Iowa jumped off to an early 9-3 lead, four of the Hawkeye points coming on long shots by Tony Guzowski.

The Gophers came back to tie the count at 9-9 and then moved ahead, 10-9. They never trailed again. It was 25-17 at halftime.

Skoog netted six of 12 shots in the first half, and added two free throws to account for 14 points of the Minnesota halftime total.

Minnesota did not use any substitutes until well into the second half, and with five minutes gone after intermission had run the score to 37-23. With 10 minutes gone it was 44-32.

Iowa pulled a mild rally with six and a half minutes left, but the Gophers took time out and then increased their lead again.

With a delegation of Minnesota students in the stands as guests of the Iowa student council, the crowd was orderly and did only a minor amount of booing.

As a team, the Gophers sank 365 percent of their shots, while Iowa's percentage was a weak 195. Skoog in the entire game sank 11 of 19 shots for a .579 average. Center Don Hays bagged eight field goals for 16 points to lead the Iowa scoring.

IC Drops Overtime Tilt To Eureka Five; Bill Shouse Injured

A Jonah was riding the Blueboy bench when they traveled to Eureka College last night and dropped a 72 to 68 cage bout to the Red Devils after hanging on for three overtime periods.

Besides losing the contest, Hilltop Mentor Miller, has another sad plight to bemoan. The leading scorer on the local college five, Bill Shouse, was kicked on the leg during the first three minutes of play, injuring a nerve, and Al estimates that the race-horse guard will be sidelined for the next three games.

With non-conference battles on tap with Eastern State Teachers, who are already marked in the Blue-boys' lost column once this year, and Blackburn college, whom the local five trounced once this season, besides a conference tilt with a tough Carthage five the 28th of this month, Shouse's loss to the squad for this period may prove disastrous to the previously high-riding Millermen.

Six IC Cagers Foul Out

Six Hilltop cagers left the tussle via the foul route. Every starter, with the exception of Bob Grove, and reserves Billings, Vilk and Wilson were forced to leave the game after committing too many personal fouls. The officials called 41 fouls on the IC quint; and 32 on Eureka for a grand total of 73 personals during the regular 40 minutes of playing time and the 15 minutes of overtime periods. The local crew outshot the Eureka five at the giff-toss line, as they dumped in 24 out of 34 free shots, while the winners made only 24 out of 48.

Millermen Start Cold

However, it was from the field that the Millermen were found wanting. They were definitely off on their shots in the opening minutes of play, suffering a 33 to 22 disadvantage at the intermission. An early second half drive brought them up even with the host school, but by then too many regulars had been benched because of fouls, and they were unable to administer the knockout punch before the bell.

With only 3 seconds to go Eureka led by a 2 point margin near the end of the regular playing time. Dave Billings was fouled, received 2 shots, and made both his tosses good to knot the count at 55-48 and throw the tilt into an overtime Miller, using a patched-up line-up kept his team in the running for 3 hard-fought overtimes, but the Eureka lads managed to pull into a 4 point edge at the end of the third killing-period to win with a 72 to 68 advantage.

Rickenbacker's Co-Pilot To Tell Thrilling Story

Under the auspices of the Jacksonville Ministerial Association, Lieut. J. C. Whittaker, of Rickenbacker's staff, will speak in the State Street Presbyterian church, Sunday evening, February 6, at 7:30 o'clock.

LT. J. C. WHITTAKER

Lieut. Whittaker's story is the complete account of the flight and crash into the Pacific, of the Flying Fortress, in which Captain Eddie Rickenbacker was flying on a military mission, and the aftermath—the three weeks of drifting under the pitiless sun and the final rescue of all but one of the passengers and crew.

The account is based upon a day account kept by Lieut. Whittaker, the only member of the Rickenbacker party who kept a diary of the dramatic and stirring adventure. He will also tell the story of his conversion.

Lieut. Whittaker is the author of the book, "We Thought We Heard the Angels Sing," and a member of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Kumle Services Held At Franklin

He formerly resided near New Berlin, but had resided in Chicago for 20 years.

The pallbearers were, Walter Long, John Sullivan, John Haugh, Edward Roesch, Edward Hickey and John Cody, all of New Berlin.

Burial was in Calvary cemetery at Springfield.

Swiss Snow Plows Continue

St. Moritz, Switzerland.—The private railroad connecting this famous winter-sports center with the outside world appealed to the cantonal (state) government recently to withdraw snow plows operating on the Julier pass, the only road between St. Moritz and the rest of Switzerland.

The appeal stressed the railroad's financial difficulties and pointed out that, if the Julier pass were permitted to remain blocked by snow throughout the winter, the railroad could transport automobiles as well as passengers through a tunnel between Switzerland and the St. Moritz district.

The appeal aroused violent opposition among motorists and hotel interests throughout the area. While the government was discussing the railroad's request, a column of automobiles bearing anti-railroad placards toured the district with loudspeakers describing the railroad management as "anti-Swiss" and "strangers of liberty."

The railroad's appeal was rejected.

Mildew-preventing chemicals effectively may be locked into linens by modification of an old method of fire-proofing textiles. Three hundred pounds of laundry now can be treated for a few cents, and the life of the fabric greatly prolonged.

Bluntnose minnows are being trained to smell out traces of a chemical which gives drinking water an unpleasant taste and odor. The minnows have a keen sense of smell, which enables them to detect phenols in minute quantities.

Beware of Romance

By Roberta Courtland

XXVII

SUSAN's letters were increasingly reproachful of Merry's stay in New York, and just before Christmas she wrote plaintively that it was the first Christmas since Merry was born that she had not been with her mother for the holiday season. But Kin pointed out, with reason, that it was the same for him; and Merry wrote Susan that she would be back shortly after Christmas. Susan's tearful letter would have spoiled the holiday season for Merry, except that she was caught up in a bright, spangled web of gaiety that left her little time to weep.

Mike turned up a day or so after what Merry felt was the outrageous scene with her father, and behaved exactly as usual, neither referring to the scene again, nor repeating his insistence that she promise to marry him.

And then a few days after Christmas, another letter came from Susan that sent Merry packing, frightened, anxious.

I don't want to upset you, darling, and I hate breaking into the fun and good times you are having, but I am not at all well, and I miss you so much. The doctor says there's nothing very badly wrong with me except my nerves, but I do want to see you before we, well, we never know, do we, darling?

And there was a postscript written in Carter's neat, precise hand: "The doctor thinks it would be best for you to come as soon as you can."

Concerned, Kin saw her on the plane, and promised to telephone Mike and explain. She had tried to call him, but had been unable to locate him, and so she had to go without seeing him.

She watched from the window of the plane until Kin could no longer be distinguished in the little group of people, and then wept a little and braced herself for what she might find when she reached St. Vincent's...

convertible, his dark face split with a white-toothed grin of delight as he saw her.

"Sho' is good to see you back, Miss Merry. We sho' is missed you," he said with such warm sincerity that she all but burst into happy tears. "Lizzie thought maybe yo' might lak' to drive yo' own car back."

"Andrew, I haven't had my hand on a wheel since I left. I've probably forgotten all about driving. And anyway, I'm tired. You fight what's happened at home," she told him blissfully, curling up on the seat while he stowed her luggage in the capacious rumble and slid behind the wheel.

As the car took the highway north, Andrew said cautiously, "Well, Miss Merry, me 'n Lizzie been a right smart worried 'bout Miss Susan. She ain't been lak' he'self since she come home and you went to New York."

"You mean she's been ill and no one let me know?"

"No'm, de doctoh he say she ain' really sick—she jes' sort o' well, grievin' lak'."

Andrew and Lizzie had been with the family since Merry had been born. She knew them as the warmest, most devoted friends she could ever have, and now she asked quietly, with brutal frankness, "Andy, do you think she's happy with Mr. Bagby?"

Andrew hesitated and his dark face went almost expressionless, while he sought for words that would convey his inmost thoughts.

"Well, Miss Merry, 'course it ain' for me to say," he said at last cautiously. "'Course, Mist Bagby, he ain' Mist Kin—not a long shot he ain'. He does de best he kin, but jes' de same, he ain'—well, Miss Merry, Lizzie 'n me, we don't lak' him."

"I don't either, Andy," Merry met his honesty with honesty. "But if Mother is fond of him and they are happy, then that's all that matters."

"Yessum," said Andrew non-committally, and changing the subject, asked eagerly after Kin.

25 Cents To $1 Will Be New Penalty For Parking Violations

Penalties ranging from 25 cents to $1 for violators of parking restrictions who wish to avoid prosecution are provided in an amendment to the parking meter ordinance which was read for the first time last night before the council.

The amendment is expected to be given final reading next week and adopted, thus tightening enforcement of minor infractions which in the past year have resulted in a busy "nickel penalty" meter at the police station.

Exchange Teacher Tells Experiences In London School

Miss Loraine Norvell, exchange teacher in England last year, related her experiences at the Willesden school in London to the members of the Jacksonville Public Teachers' association at their regular meeting Monday.

Miss Norvell, who teaches social studies in grades five to eight in the Lawrence school, Springfield, taught 42 seven-year-olds in the infant school in London. The school includes ages three to eight.

In contrasting this British school with her own, Miss Norvell stated that the children seemed to lack a democratic feeling. "Our children learn to work in a group and the British children work alone. Not only do the children work as individuals, but the teachers seem to also. Only one staff meeting was held during the year. They seemed also indifferent to American techniques."

Miss Norvell came to realize that the important thing was not an exchange of teaching methods but an understanding of the ideals which underlie them. "They teach under tremendous handicaps without adequate supplies and under crowded conditions."

Following the business meeting, conducted by Miss Frances Webb, Mary Jane Smith sang three numbers accompanied by Noel Rousey.

Win-Co-Hi Meet Founder Tutored Jerseyville Coach

Twenty-seven years ago V. R. Rutherford inaugurated the present Winchester tournament. He was the Wildcat mentor for five years and kept the trophy going before leaving the Scott county school for Wiley High at Terre Haute, Indiana.

He has continued to follow the annual meet and this year will have a new interest. One of his star players will coach an entry in this year's tournament.

E. V. Holt, Jerseyville coach, played under Rutherford at Wiley High and his Panther squad rates as one of the dark-horse entries this year. Rutherford coached at Wiley for 18 years and at present is boys' counselor. Holt rates him the finest coach he ever played under.

Both men are natives of Indiana state, and Holt's small Jerseyville crew is playing typical Hoosier basketball which features smooth passing, set plays and a medium fast break.

The tournament squad boasts two seniors, so the Jersey county school should do better than alright next season.

Jerseyville dumped the Bluffs Bluejays in a first round contest last night.
